

PERMISSIONS AND COPYRIGHT GUIDELINES

If you plan to use verbatim text, illustrations, charts or tables from any previously published source in the editorial material, you must obtain permission from the copyright holder by the date of submission of your manuscript. If you are quoting or transcribing manuscript material, you must obtain permission from the author's estate.

Keep accurate records of all material used or investigated. You must supply full details of the sources of all copyright material used, both textual and pictorial. These details should be supplied with the manuscript as a separate list, and should clearly indicate the source of each relevant item.

The source information should include:

- Author(s) name and initials
- Title in which material appears
- Edition and publication year
- Publisher and location
- Page number(s) on which material appears in original publication

In general, published works are in copyright for seventy years after the death of the author, or seventy years after publication if the copyright holder is the publisher. You will need to obtain permission to reproduce any text which exceeds the following:

- Any single extract longer than 400 words
- A series of extracts totalling more than 800 words
- A series of extracts of which any one extract is more than 300 words.

Do however bear in mind that this is general guidance – if the original source is short (e.g. a poem), you may need permission to reproduce a much shorter extract. When in doubt, always check with the copyright holder(s) well in advance of finalizing and submitting your manuscript.

If you have received permission to reproduce material, please provide a list of the items which acknowledge source separately. All permissions must be obtained by the date of manuscript submission. Please contact us well in advance of submission if you have any queries or uncertainties with regard to copyright.
